×	43% First things first — congratulation: to the Grants of Glenfarclas on attaining their 175th anniversary To celebrate, they have vatted together a cask from 1952 with one each from the following five decades — and released it at an exceptionally reasonable price! The nose has a lift of struck match immediately followed by cedar, pomegranate, blackberry jam, and Seville orange. There's a thick caramel toffee sweetness to the palate alongside the classic 'Farclas depth where dried, but sweet, fruits repose. Recommended. £80 (Dave Broom (Value Pick) —Vol. 20, #2 ×	n d
