

Breizh

42%

The price tag — higher than the entry level single malt — gives an indication as to what to expect from this blend, and it's a cracker. Made with 50 percent grain and 50 percent malt, the taste here is punctuated by a distinctive and unusual salt and pepper delivery.

Beyond that there's creamy vanilla, soft peach, and a creamy rounded finish. It really dares to be different. €32

—Vol. 20, #4

