

Tap 357

40.5%

Nose is full of a wonderful, authentic maple syrup smell with a warming background of whisky. The maple's there in the mouth, too; not overwhelming, and blending well with the whisky. There's a good balance here, for what it is, and the finish is clean. If you like maple, this is going to do it: it's not cloying or thick, and could make a great cocktail with — really — bacon.

—Vol. 21, #2

