

Glenrothes 1978

43%

Though this has been on the shelves in the UK for a while, its U.S. release has been delayed. It shows a classic mature 'Rothes nose, mixing moist fruitcake, vanilla, and a tickle of maltiness. What sets this apart is the weight of the stewed fruit and a dry note reminiscent of light rain on tweed. The palate is typically slow with a sparky spiciness and a lick of hazelnut butter to caress your throat. Worth the wait.

—Vol. 21, #3

