

The Macallan Diamond Jubilee

52%

A vatting of sherry casks from (apparently) royally significant dates with an outturn of 2012 (get it?) bottles. Auburn in color, it has a fruit compote nose mixed with citrus, and a little hint of gravy browning in the background. This mix of the exotic—oil of clove on the tongue, the sweet and light grip—makes for a very intriguing, concentrated, and layered palate.

Think of Turkish Delight and crystallized ginger. Try the distillery shop for stock. £350

—Vol. 21, #3

