

Bowmore 46 year old
(distilled 1964)

42.9%

There have been some legendary Bowmores from the mid-60s and this is every bit their equal. All of them share a remarkable aroma of tropical fruit, which here moves into hallucinatory intensity: guava, mango, peach, pineapple, grapefruit. There's a very light touch of peat smoke, more a memory of Islay than the reality.

Concentrated; even at low strength the palate is silky, heady, and haunting, and lasts forever in the dry glass. A legend is born. (Eight bottles only for the U.S.)

Editor's Choice.

—Vol. 21, #3

