

Sons of Liberty Hop Flavored Whiskey

40%

Lemony, pine woods, even some seashore aromas over the sweetness of the malt whiskey underneath. Not overly bitter, more whiskey-sweet, and the aromas are subdued in the mouth. I like a big hoppy IPA, but this isn't setting my palate. I think it's missing the body of a beer. I have yet to have a hopped whiskey that I really like; this isn't it either.
