

Ranger Creek .36
Single Barrel (barrel
#503)
48%

The .36 Small Caliber was one of the best young small-barrel bourbons I've ever had, so I was very much looking forward to this 3 year, 8 month old bottling from "traditional large barrels." Aroma: like a 12 year old bourbon: oak spice, corn sweet. Not hot, spice and vanilla, smooth but oaky, with a light, flowing feel. A unique combination of youth and maturity that opens the "Texas whiskey" niche a bit wider. (Spec's exclusive)
