

Wemyss Malts Stem
Ginger Preserve
(distilled at Mortlach)
1995

This is Mortlach in musing mode. An aroma that initially brings to mind a woolen mill, then opens into sweet spice, light syrup, with the sense of the distillery's weight always present. A rippling kind of muscularity with some rapeseed oil. With water the palate starts lighter and more fruity than you'd expect, then comes rooty weight with, yes, a distinctly gingery slant. Water shows more beeswax/honeycomb. Substantial and spicy. £85
