There is a lot of pride behind this bottle, but undoubtedly its best features are the gloriously juicy mouthfeel and generosity of flavor. Orchard fruit, creamy vanilla, and freshly sliced orange square up to a company of spices: a mix of dried cumin, cayenne, paprika, and black pepper. Heavy and tangy, the orange conquers the initial charge of spices, with flanking maneuvers from lemon and bitter peels giving close support. (1,000 bottles for U.S.)
