

Distillery Select
'Inchmoan' (distilled at Loch Lomond)
Cask #151, 13 year old, 1992
vintage, 45%

Fiery peat kiln smoke, tar, and ripe barley on the nose. Not overly complex, but not a problem either. On the palate, the whisky starts out acceptable enough. But by mid-palate, the whisky turns harsh and unpleasant, with petroleum and vegetal notes that continues through to the finish. (Exclusive to Astor Wines and Spirits.)

—Vol. 16, #3

