

Duncan Taylor Rare
Auld Grain (distilled at Strathclyde) 1990 28
year old

51.2%

Baked lemons, light caramel, throat lozenges, and a butteriness to the nose, the grain character complemented by sweetness and warmer fruits. Light red fruits, butterscotch, Scottish tablet, with a nippy herbal bite to the palate and a deep, persistent burn of cracked black pepper spiciness that glows long into the finish.

Strathclyde showing lots of enjoyable distillery character here.

—Vol. 28, #1

