Single Malts of Scotland 30 year old Imperial 1989 Single Cask (Cask No. 362)

43.3%

Perfumy in both aroma and flavor: rose potpourri, peach blossom, lemon drops, strawberry shortcake, talcum powder, and clean cereal notes on the nose. Candied rose petal on the palate, as well as dried fruit (especially with water), rich and wellintegrated spice, cacao nibs, and dry oak. It's distinctive and wellbalanced, even when the oak seems a touch bitter. The finish is dry and leathery, with pipe tobacco, cinnamon, and, still, that rose note. (172 bottles; U.S.
