

Edradour

cask #06/538/4, 1996 vintage, 11 year old, 57.5%

A "straight from the cask" bottling, finished in a Grand Arôme rum barrel. I can really pick up the rum.

If you've ever had rum from La Reunion island (easiest to find in France), you immediately pick it out here. Peculiar straw gold/lime green color. Intriguing on the palate, too: botanicals, fennel, liqueur-ish, honeyed malt, red licorice, and tropical fruit. Sort of like a cross between a scotch and something Benedictine monks would make. A nice change of pace. (Bottled for Maxwell Street Trading Co.)
