

Lonach (distilled at Carsebridge)

1063 vintage, 43 year old, 43%

A rare bottling indeed, from this now defunct grain distillery. Very tropical, with a macaroon and vanilla cream foundation.

Complementary notes of marshmallow, crème brulee, honey, and pineapple. Surprisingly vibrant for a 43 year old whisky and, while expressing sweeter notes, not at all cloying (the grain whisky aspects actually help here).

Soothing and distinctive. Great price, too!
